RIVAL GROUPS
HOLD PARADES
FOR MAY DAYRANKS OF WORKERS
DIVIDED OVER
COMMUNISM

(By The Associated Press)

Millions of workers throughout the world celebrated their 59th May Day today in rival demonstrations—their ranks split by the struggle between Communism and the west. In many countries May Day corresponds to the American Labor Day.

In Athens an attempt was made to assassinate Minister of Justice Christos Lada. Police said his attacker confessed he was under orders from a Communist execution squad.

In Trieste, Rome and Berlin the atmosphere was tense but the celebrations produced only minor incidents.

More than 300,000 surged through rubble-strewn Berlin, some supporting and others denouncing Communism in bitter terms. Police said more than 200,000 thronged the Soviet sector to hear Communist speakers attack the Marshall plan.

U. S. Most Hated

In Moscow Prime Minister Stalin reviewed a gigantic parade in Red Square. The emphasis seemed to be more on civilian than the military but Marshal Nikolai Bulganin told the vast throng that Russia's armed forces will "honorably fulfill all the tasks before them."

In an order of the day Minister of Armed Forces Bulganin urged Soviet preparedness against "the intrigues of international reaction."

Communist Vice-Premier Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland, opening Poland's May Day celebration in Warsaw last night, said the United States is well along in becoming the "most hated" nation. He got a big hand from party members and leftwing Socialists when he declared the U. S. would not succeed in stringing "strands of economic barbed wire" around Europe.

In the majority of Western Europe's democratic capitals separate observances were planned. Socialist and moderate labor groups turned a chilly shoulder on the Communists.

In New York, parade routes of leftwingers and anti-Communists were separated by three long downtown blocks. The Veterans of Foreign Wars sponsored the anti-Communist "Loyalty Day" parade up Fifth avenue. A Catholic mass for Russia was to be held before the start.

Rival groups were to march separately in a number of other American cities. Some communities have scheduled "Pray for Russia" meetings sponsored by lay Catholics.

LEWIS PLUNGES
INTO 2 BATTLESCoal Diggers To Dicker
For New Contracts

By HAROLD W. WARD

Washington, May 1 (AP)—John L. Lewis today faced prospects of a two-front battle in new contract negotiations with the soft coal operators.

The United Mine Workers chief notified the owners yesterday he will be ready to start talking matters over May 13. At the same time he received notice from the Southern Coal Producers Association that it also wants to discuss a new pact to replace the one expiring June 30.

Although the southern group was included in the agreement signed last year, it did not take part as a group in the negotiations. Lewis contested the right of Joseph E. Moody, head of the Dixie organization, to sit in on talks dealing with the disputed mine pension fund.

If Lewis challenges the right of the Association to bargain for the 14 big groups in the rich southern fields, he may be in for more court appearances.

Moody already has filed a complaint with the National Labor Relations Board, charging Lewis with an unfair labor practice by refusing to bargain with him on the pensions.

Fire Kills Farmer
Trying to Burn Up
Orchard Prunings

St. Joseph, Mich., May 1 (AP)—Frederick M. Mays, a 48-year old South Lincoln farmer, burned to death Friday morning in his orchard, but the tragedy was not discovered until afternoon. Mays failed to appear at home for lunch. In midafternoon his wife, Frieda, looked for her husband and came upon his charred body a quarter of a mile from their farmhouse.

Mays had piled orchard prunings in a large heap for burning. The brush had not caught fire, although partly soaked in gasoline. Investigators believe fumes exploded when Mays struck a match, spraying his clothing with flaming gasoline. Officers reported that coins which had been in the dead man's pocket were partly melted.

An expectant mother, her mutilated body was found by her husband on his return from services in a nearby town.

Varga pleaded innocent by reason of insanity at his arraignment on murder charges yesterday.

Rebel Democrats Go
Gunning For Franco
At State Convention

By JACK I. GREEN

Battle Creek, Mich., May 1 (AP)—A rebel coalition of out-state and Detroit Democrats was reported today seeking to wrest control of the Democratic party State Chairman John R. Franco as 1,149 party faithful met in state convention.

The official reason for the convention was to choose delegates to the National Democratic convention in Philadelphia next July, but the choice of those delegates had a direct bearing on the future party leadership.

The delegates will elect the next national committeeman and committeewoman.

The race for national committeeman was reported to be centering around Franco and E. Cyril Bevan of Detroit, the incumbent whose scalp has been hunted by important factions in the party.

The pre-convention reports were that Bevan, however, had made his peace with a powerful group of outstate Democrats who complained they had been left out of party councils.

Franco apparently had stolen a march by picking Victor E. Bucknell of Kalamazoo to deliver the keynote address. Bucknell is his candidate for governor.

There was plenty of Eisenhower sentiment in the convention halls, but the party officially expected to adopt a strong resolution supporting President Truman for renomination.

NEW AIR FORCE
BILL GROUNDEDDispute Delays Action
On 70-Group Plan

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington, May 1 (AP)—The 70-group air force program was grounded in the Senate today with no action likely until late next week.

A gusty Senate dispute over non-military matters delayed plans yesterday to take up the $3,233,000,000 bill to start the air force expansion. And further obstacles to early passage were in the offing.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate appropriations committee had scheduled a maneuver to speed the measure to the Senate floor—by asking unanimous consent to suspend the rules. But several Senators indicated they would object.

Then a wrangle over a home insurance bill started. It lasted all day.

Bridges was in New Hampshire today working on his reelection campaign. But he told a reporter before leaving that he will fly back here when other Senate leaders give him the nod on the air force bill, possibly Wednesday.

Another threat also loomed in the path of the air force bill.

Two Republican Senators, who asked not to be identified, said Senator Taft (R-Ohio) had suggested delaying the measure. They indicated he wants to take up the program's cost with members of the Senate GOP policy committee, which he heads

But the plan was for the state to send an uninstructed delegation to Philadelphia, its hands free to catch any handwagon.

The convention leadership seemed taken with the idea that if the national committeeman post went to a Detroitite the national committeewoman should be an outstater.

The name of Mrs. Minnie C. Schwinger of Saginaw, long-time party leader and one-time candidate for state treasurer, was given the most pre-convention weight for that honor.

Mrs. Clara B. Van Auken of Detroit has resigned the position.

Mrs. Violet Patterson of Perkins and Lansing, vice-chairman of the State Central committee, and an ally of Franco, was the other major candidate.

GREEK MINISTER
HIT BY GRENADEParty Leader In Coma;
Assassin Captured

Athens, May 1 (AP)—A May Day assassination attempt was made on Minister of Justice Christos Ladas today by a man who police said confessed he was under orders from a Communist execution squad. A policeman was killed and the assailant wounded.

Ladas, hit in the head by three hand grenade fragments was reported in serious condition. He underwent an emergency operation.

Police identified the attacker as Efstratos Moutsouyanis, a factory worker about 22.

Police said Moutsouyanis told them he is a member of OPLA, a Communist execution squad which gave him orders to assassinate the minister.

They said Moutsouyanis threw a grenade through the back window of Ladas' car and it exploded, wounding the official. He threw another grenade which was a dud, they added, and then killed a policeman with a third as he fled. He was wounded by police fire and captured. Police threw a cordon around the small square where the attack occurred.

England Lifts Ban
On Pleasure Travel

London, May 1 (AP)—Britain lifted today its eight month ban on foreign travel for pleasure. Thousands promptly headed for holidays on the continent. Railroad and shipping company officials reported a rush of tourists.

Currency restrictions remain in force. A vacationing adult is allowed only 35 pounds ($140) a year in foreign money, and a child under 16, 25 pounds ($100).

Teachers in Detroit
Get Right to Spank

Detroit, May 1 (AP)—Teachers in Detroit schools were granted the right today to spank unruly pupils.

In a written statement, Superintendent Arthur Dondineau said the teachers take the place of the parent while the child is in school.

"The superintendent and his staff will support principals and teachers in all reasonable disciplinary measures," he added.

BOARD HOPES TO HEAD OFF
RAIL WALKOUTBOTH SIDES MAKE
EFFORT TO REACH
SETTLEMENT

Chicago, May 1 (AP)—There appears a possibility of heading off the crippling nationwide railroad strike set for May 11, says the federal mediation chief.

Commenting on the efforts of the National (Railway) Mediation Board to effect a settlement between the carriers and three operating unions, Chairman Frank P. Douglas said:

"There is a possibility that we might be able to make some recommendations that are not already included in the emergency board's report which might stave off the strike."

He said he had found "a sincere disposition on the part of both sides to try to find a settlement."

Railroad representatives met with the board yesterday after the three unions huddled with the conciliators on Thursday. Today separate meetings with both sides were planned by the conciliators.

Pay Demand Is Hich

"We have in mind the principal points on which they are apart and we are now trying to reconcile these points of view," Douglas told newsmen after yesterday's meeting with the carriers.

"The carriers still take the position that they will bargain within the framework of the emergency board's report. We think the atmosphere is such that progress can be made."

Before conclusion of the session with the railroad representatives yesterday Douglas had described both sides "unyielding." He said that direct negotiations appeared the only hope of calling off the walkout. Neither side is in favor of further arbitration.

The "big difficulty" in the long-standing wage dispute, Douglas said, is the demand by the three unions for more pay than recommended by a presidential fact-finding board.

The Brotherhoods — Engineers, Firemen and Engineers and Switchmen—had a claimed membership of 190,000 key rail workers, sought a wage increase of 30 per cent with a minimum hike of $3 a day and changes in working rules.

The board proposed a pay boost of 15½ cents an hour, which had been accepted last Fall by other rail brotherhoods. The carriers, Douglas said, refuse to grant the three unions a bigger wage hike than the other railroad workers received.

The strike will start as scheduled at 6 a. m. local time a week from next Tuesday unless the carriers grant more money, said Alvanley Johnston, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and D. B. Robertson, president of the Firemen and Engineers.

Inland Steel Blast
At Indiana Harbor
Kills 3, Injures 5

East Chicago, Ind., May 1 (AP)—Three steelworkers died of burns today after an explosion in an open hearth pit at Inland Steel company's Indiana harbor plant. Five others were hurt.

The dead men were listed in St. Catherine's hospital as A. F. Joseph, Gary; Glen Becker, Whiting; and Alfonso Martinez, East Chicago. Ages were not available.

Other workers said the blast late yesterday scattered molten slag among the victims, setting fire to their clothing. Some were burned by the incandescent pieces of coal, lime and ore.

The three men most seriously burned died almost simultaneously this morning. Grady Smith, East Chicago, was reported in serious condition at the hospital but the other four injured were released after treatment at the plant infirmary.

An investigation was under way by the plant safety department, which said the cause of the explosion was unknown so far.

Income Tax Cut
For 50,000,000
Is Reality Today

Washington, May 1 (AP)—The $4,800,000,000 a year tax cut becomes a hard cash reality for many taxpayers today.

A boost in retail buying was expected as wage earners paid off today found less money withheld from their paychecks for taxes—regardless of when the money was earned.

Those paid today are the first of more than 50,000,000 taxpayers getting a take-home pay raise at government expense.

The law, passed by Congress last March over President Truman's veto, dates the lower withholding tax back to the start of the year. But the government won't grant refunds until final 1948 income tax returns are filed early in 1949.

The 7,400,000 persons freed from all income taxes by the new law will have to wait like others to get back the money withheld from their paychecks from January through April.

The millions of other taxpayers will get cuts ranging from 12.6 per cent on taxes of $400 a year or less, down to five per cent on a tax of $134,000 or more.

The treasury estimates the reductions will cost the government $600,000,000 in May and June, with over 45,000,000 taxpayers sharing in that pool.

The June reduction will go not only to those subject to withholding taxes, but also to professional workers and higher-income groups who have a quarterly tax payment due June 15.

They can file amended estimates of tax to cut down their quarterly payments. Treasury officials expressed belief many down-scalded their estimates in March in anticipation of the tax cut.

Government economists forecast a rise in retail sales as May paychecks give the benefits of lower taxes to more taxpayers.

They pointed to an extra lift given sales when veterans began cashing in terminal leave bonds last September. The veterans, however, got more money immediately—over $437,000,000 in the first week.

How the average taxpayer will spend his extra money—he normally saves only about seven cents out of each dollar he earns—was debatable.

Some government economists said they expect the lower income groups getting the bulk of the multi-billion dollar refund to spend it on either greater amounts or better quality food, clothing and amusement.

Increased investments are expected among the higher income taxpayers.

REUTHER AFFAIR
AT LOOSE ENDSDetroit Police Free
Private Detectives

Detroit, May 1 (AP)—The Walter Reuther shooting investigation was at loose ends again today as a pair of private detectives were freed after extensive questioning.

Harvey B. Kennedy, 45, and Sam Henderson, 46, were released at midnight Friday, several hours after Kennedy took a voluntary truth serum test.

In freeing them after two days' questioning, chief of detectives Jack Harvell said he was acting on the orders of Circuit Judge Arthur Webster. The judge had granted a habeas corpus writ contingent upon the outcome of Kennedy's truth serum test.

The two admitted renting a late model red car on April 20, the night an assailant nearly killed the CIO United Auto Workers president with a shotgun blast through a window of the Reuther home.

The gunman escaped in a red car, witnesses reported.

UAW Vice President John Livingston and union Attorney Nicholas Rotte told police the two detectives came to them the day after the shooting and asked for an expense account to investigate it. Kennedy claimed he knew of a "hired killer" in the city at that time, Rotte said.

America Buys Up
Goods in Germany
To Assist Europe

Washington, May 1 (AP)—The United States today ordered $9,455,000 worth of goods from western Germany to aid four nations under the European recovery program.

Paul G. Hoffman, economic cooperation administrator, said today's commitments—totaling $15,969,000—mark the first large shipment of goods from outside the United States.

This brings to $74,270,000 the total value of foreign aid shipments authorized by the three-week old agency. Ocean freight will add $5,366,000 to the costs.

FIRST FORCES
CROSS BORDER
OF HOLY LANDSYRIAN - LEBANESE
TROOPS RAID 3
JEWISH TOWNS

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, May 1 (AP)—Arab nations ringing the Holy Land launched their invasion of Palestine in simultaneous pincer thrusts today. Arab and Jewish sources reported, even though the British mandate has 15 days to run.

Tel Aviv headquarters of Haganah, the Jewish militia, said Syrian and Lebanese forces invaded at dawn from the north in heavy attacks. Haganah reported Jewish outposts at three settlements within Palestine engaged the fierce fighting against invaders using tanks and armored cars. The announcement said the attackers "are using guns, mortars and machineguns."

Truce Broken

Unofficial sources in Cairo said the Egyptian army crossed into southern Palestine at midnight and that King Ibn Saud ordered his Saudi Arabian army to join Egyptian troops on the southern front.

Arab dispatches to Damascus, Syria, asserted King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan ordered simultaneous invasion of the Holy Land by six Arab states' armies. The reports said Iraqi planes flew above invading troops from Iraq, showering the soldiers with leaflets "welcoming" them into Palestine.

Fighting continued in the battle for Jerusalem, where Haganah consolidated its hold on the strategic Katamon sector in the southern part of the city.

In the Jaffa-Tel Aviv area, where the Jewish Irgun Zvai Leumi had virtually isolated the Arab part of Jaffa, the British said at least 70 Irgunists were killed when the Arabs broke a truce and the Jews returned fire. An earlier British announcement said the men were killed when Irgun broke the truce, but this report was amended later.

Jericho Taken

Some Trans-Jordan troops already were in Palestine, holding Jericho, 20 miles northeast of Jerusalem.

Five Arab states held a council of war in Trans-Jordan. They were planning operations which (Continued On Page 12)

Delta Hens Fail In Race To Lay 13,345,200 Eggs

No matter how much they tried, Delta county's 50,000 laying hens would be unable to supply local consumers with all the eggs they will use this year—approximately 1,112,100 dozens or 13,345,200 shell-wrapped units.

So says J. M. Moore, East Lansing, extension poultryman of Michigan State College, who was in Delta county yesterday on a tour of the Upper Peninsula to assist Upper Peninsula hens in doing a better job with what they have to work with. Moore is in Schoolcraft county today, and from there will return to Lansing.

According to Moore, the 50,000 laying hens in Delta county produce approximately 368,000 dozen eggs a year. The people of Delta county ate all those eggs and then imported 744,000 dozens in addition. Last year, on a national average, the per capita consumption of eggs was 380, compared with 315 before the war.

Need More Pullets

Northern Michigan communities do not import eggs because the local hens are sitting down on the job, but because there are not enough local hens to keep up with the demand, Moore said. This can be remedied by more poultry farms, but indications now are that the number of pullets will be less this year than last, because of the high cost of grain to feed larger flocks.

Farmers keep a poultry flock to make a profit, Moore pointed out. They take the day-old chick, and feed and care for it for six months before it begins to pay for its keep. Then the farmer must provide a suitable house so that no matter what the weather may be, that pullet will lay continuously throughout the year if she is to return a profit to her owner.

"Feed costs are so high that many farmers this year are deciding against buying baby chicks," Moore said. "Such a condition means fewer eggs for Mrs. Consumer next fall, which brings us to the question of when is the most profitable time for the farmer to get his chicks and which lay the greatest number of high priced eggs—hens or pullets?"

Seasonal Scarcity

Moore answered the question by saying that, from the producer's standpoint, there are two seasons of egg production: The season of "plenty" and the season of "scarcity." The former roughly covers from January to June, and the latter from July to December. The "scarcity" season is the high-priced season and the major share of profit from the poultry flock must be made during the latter half of the year.

There is only one kind of chicken that will produce eggs profitably during this season, and that is the early hatched pullets that have plenty of egg production in their breeding, Moore said.

The poultry flock of 700 birds at Michigan State College experimental farm at Chatham has been managed as follows for the past seven years: Well bred chicks of the brown egg breeds are hatched the middle of January, then kept in brooders until April, when they are put out on range in brooder houses and summer shelters. By August the pullets are laying 60 per cent production, and by September most of their eggs are in the large size.

Moore said farmers should distinguish between keeping poultry for profit, and for "family use." If it is to be a business proposition, it is necessary to supply the market "when the demand is the best and the profits will, therefore, be greatest."

Handicraft Classes In Recreation Unit Closed for Summer

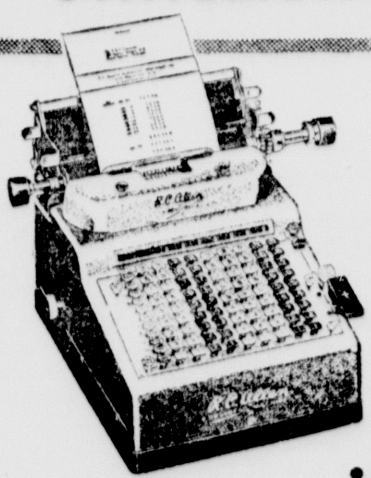

Handicraft classes taught by Mrs. Bertha LaChapelle under the city recreation program have been discontinued for the summer.

The classes have met several times each week since last fall. Many women, in fact the largest number ever, to enroll for the classes, made toys, hats, and other leather and cloth items at the recreation center.

Early in June, Mrs. LaChapelle will open the pre-school clinic. Youngsters will learn paper-craft and other skills at the center.

Classes in handicraft work for adults will reopen again early next fall. The courses are free; only materials used must be paid for.

must receive anti-rabic treatment. This treatment last year cost 2,211 persons approximately, according to the state health department.

Hydrophobia, once developed, is always fatal in humans.

The death toll from hydrophobia has been greatly reduced by anti-rabic treatment. Such treatment administered at once will usually prevent hydrophobia but occasionally, as in the Mannor case, the infection is so great that treatment is ineffective.

Vaccination of dogs will protect them against rabies and thereby protect humans against hydrophobia. Eventually all dog owners will be required to have their dogs vaccinated but this legislation will not come until more innocent children are killed by the bites of rabid dogs.

Many conscientious dog owners are, of course, having their dogs vaccinated against rabies. Unfortunately, many more of them are unconcerned about the problem.

STALIN "APPEASES" THE FINNS (Grand Rapids Press)

Unlike his Nazi counterpart, who invariably scowled, ranted hysterically and was never called "Uncle" Adolf, Josef Stalin has his lighter side. Typifying his "Uncle Joe" role, he is sometimes pictured smoking his pipe, with a quizzical twinkle in his eye.

In one of these expansive moments, he addressed a dinner celebrating the Russo-Finnish treaty the other night. To the group around the table, he expatiated disarmingly on the equality of all nations, large and small. Each, he said, has unique qualities which contribute to enrichment of the world's common culture and in that sense all are equal.

Obviously this benevolent talk was calculated to make little Finland feel better about a treaty which at best was a bad bargain for that beleaguered nation. That it accomplished any such purpose is exceedingly doubtful. The Finns, who have gone through the ordeal of two wars in the last nine years, would have short memories if they failed to recall what happened to them after they defied the Russians in 1939 and '40. They are paying heavy indemnities for that "error" in judgment.

They know Stalin for what he is, a professional revolutionist who thrives on conquest—as ruthless ambitious as Hitler, if less spectacular. They know what happens to the "equality" of small nations when Uncle Joe rings down the iron curtain. Far from being hoodwinked by the dictator's oily phrases, they are well aware that only his desire for a window to the west saved them—for the present at least—from the fate of Latvia, Estonia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and the rest.

THAT DOOR IS OPEN (Detroit News)

In his recent Army Day talk in Detroit, Gen. J. Lawton Collins made one point concerning the present strength of the Army which should be of particular interest to this city.

He pointed to the situation in the Aleutians, where we now have air bases, but where there is no ground protection for these bases, simply because the Army doesn't have enough tactical strength at present to assign the needed units to this area.

The strategic danger inherent in such a situation is no longer debatable. The Aleutians are American soil, and moreover, they are the stepping stone to Alaska.

Prior to the last war we left them unguarded. We all know what happened. The Japanese didn't get moving into the Aleutians until six months after the war started, but that was still early enough to enable them to take bases at Attu and Kiska before we could prepare to defend them.

Is it necessary for us to learn this lesson all over again?

Quite obviously it will be so, if we continue our present improvident attitude toward Army field forces. The Army is powerless to correct the situation unless it is given the men.

Where the Japanese in the Kuriles were relatively remote from the Aleutians, the Russians in the Commander Islands are only a stone's throw away. The Russian mainland is within a few miles of Nome, Alaska.

"And Alaska," Gen. Collins added, "is only 2,500 miles by air from Detroit."

The American Dental Association has added Harvard's school of dental medicine to the list of approved dental schools. They are all just part of the grind of college days.

Washington, (NEA)—Congress will not be asked to ratify the new International Trade Organization charter if present thinking in top State Department levels is followed. The issue is considered too big and too important to try crowding it in before election.

Also, renewal of Cordell Hull's pet Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act is now before Congress. It expires June 12.

The ITO charter is the 54-nation fair trade agreement concluded after four months of tough negotiating at Havana. There were three years of preparation before that. The final charter is nine chapters and 163 articles long. It is in exceedingly complicated technical language, which only foreign trade experts can understand. But the guts of it is important to every American businessman and consumer.

There is some feeling that the U. S. delegation gave away the American shirt at Havana. This the American experts hotly deny.

They say they got into the document all the major suggestions made by such conservatives as the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers, as well as those the Senate Finance Committee made after extensive hearings. They see in the ITO charter an agreement which will help world reconstruction, and liberate world trade from the restrictions which helped bring on the depression of the 1930's and the second World War which followed.

BASIC IDEA IS AMERICAN

The ITO story is best understood by the average reader by tracing the international political maneuvering back of the charter. The basic idea is American. First proposals were made to the British in December, 1945. These were expanded into an American version of the charter in September, 1946.

U. S. trade experts took this draft to principal trading countries to get their reaction. They were varied. The British did not like the idea of having Americans assuming world trade leadership. Australians thought the U. S. had put the wrong emphasis on trying to free world trade. They proposed that this country, as the world's greatest consumer, do something to stabilize its purchasing power so seller nations would never feel depression.

The draft charter was next submitted to the United Nations Economic and Social Council. An 18-nation Preparatory Commission was named. It met in London, February, 1947, to study the charter.

Here new objections appeared. Underdeveloped countries demanded guarantees of financial assistance to promote their own growth. India wanted safeguards against exploitation by foreign capital and freedom from foreign political interference. Other countries wanted the U. S. to give up its practice of subsidizing or dumping its surpluses on the world market at reduced prices. Some countries wanted freedom for "state trading," abolishing or freezing out American free enterprise by private business.

After the London conference, more revisions were made at Lake Success. The draft charter was also submitted to U. S. business through a series of nation-wide public hearings to bring out all possible objections and suggested revisions.

CHARTER REVISED AT GENEVA

All these ideas were then taken to Geneva, Switzerland, where a fourth draft of the charter was written by delegates from 23 countries, meeting from April to August, 1947. In addition to revising the charter, they hammered out a huge trade agreement. This was done in a series of over 100 separate negotiations between various countries. They reduced tariffs on thousands of items which account for over half of the total trade of the world.

Back in the United States, the work of the Geneva conference was received with some misgivings. American business interests wanted more protection for capital invested overseas. There was suspicion of lowered tariffs. There was fear that state socialism was being promoted in other countries. There was concern over sacrificing U. S. sovereignty to a world supergovernment that might control and restrict or even throttle U. S. foreign commerce.

The Geneva documents agreed upon by the 23 nations were then bundled up and sent to all of the United Nations for their consideration. They had three months in which to get ready for the Havana conference which opened last Nov. 21.

It had been hoped to wind up the Havana conference in two months. It took four.

Ft. Wayne: Please pronounce cyclamen. Is the first syllable like "sigh"?—Mrs. C. G.

Answer: No. It's: SICK-luh-mun.

CONTROVERSY—There appears to be perennial dispute between the commercial fisherman and the sports fisherman, with the conservation commission bearing the brunt of the controversy. If they give in to either side they are accused of being partial. When the law requires it, one side or the other presents its proposal to the state legislature in a bill that is hailed and assailed.

Dunathan L. F. "Les"

Groll, proprietor of a store at Fayette, writes to take up the cudgel for the commercial fishermen who are opposed to a proposed legislative bill to close the head of Big Bay de Noc to commercial fishing. Groll cites the "increasing tendency of so-called sportsmen to have outlying bodies of water set aside for sport fishing only," and adds: "Personally I see very little sportsmanship in any action that deprives one man of his livelihood to create a sport for a few others."

ONLY PROPOSED—Suppose we let Groll take over from here on, for he has plenty to say on the subject.

"I wish to call attention to a deal that I understand is now afoot to close the head of Big Bay de Noc to commercial fishing. The intention is to save the yellows, or walleyed pike, from the commercial fishermen. Of course they are intended to be left exclusively for the sports fishermen."

"The fact remains that Big Bay is classed as outlying waters and the taking of these fish commercially is perfectly legal in season. And in spite of the fact that hundreds of pike were taken by sports fishermen last summer in this area, I have yet to hear of a single commercial fisherman trying to close it for the sports fishermen. Come to think of it, I never did hear of a body of water being closed for sport fishing to save it for the commercial boys."

MOSTLY SUCKERS—"Coming back to this particular body of water, I think that I am safe in saying that until two years ago there were not enough pike there to make the fishing of them a success as a commercial venture. "The fish that predominated in those waters was the sucker. It is the 'bread and butter' fish of the inside commercial fishermen. When perch and whitefish fail, suckers are food on the table and shoes for the kids. It is the ace in the hole when the chips are down and going is tough."

THEN CAME PIKE—"Several years ago the pike appeared in the picture. From Menominee all along the west shore of the bay they showed up in increasing numbers. As they increased, the interest in them went up in proportion. The commercial fishermen found them mixed in with their suckers.

"From the commercial fishing standpoint, it meant a new dress for the wife, a little paint for the house—the things that unexpected money can buy.

"Sad part of it is that pike will bite on a hook, and the sports fishermen were right in their piteous. All of them got plenty of fish, but it seems the sportsman (and I say that with reservation) wanted them all. It is remarkable how greedy and grasping some of the

Wed in Green Bay

Of interest in Escanaba, former home of the bride's family, is the marriage of Miss Mary Louise Hessel, daughter of Mrs. Walter L. Hessel, of 1191 Shawano avenue, Green Bay, and Robert M. Tetzlaff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben M. Tetzlaff of DePere, which took place recently at St. Paul's Lutheran church in Green Bay.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, Ernest Becker, wore a white satin gown with a bouffant skirt and medium train. Pearls at her neck matched a pearl-trimmed tiara to which a short illusion veil was attached. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

Miss Phyllis Merrill, cousin of the bride, and a student at the University of Wisconsin, was maid of honor. She wore an aqua faille gown and a headband of flowers and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and stephanotis. Dorothy Ann Tetzlaff, a sister of the bridegroom, and junior bridesmaids, wore a gown identical to that of the maid of honor.

Donald Ladrow, University of Wisconsin student, was best man and Donald Buerscher, Milwaukee, and Lloyd R. Hansen ushered.

Home in Manitowoc
A wedding dinner was held for immediate family members at the Hotel Northland and a reception in the evening at the Woman's club building. Following their wedding trip the newlyweds will live at 1128 A. S. Seventh street in Manitowoc.

The bride is a graduate of West high school in Green Bay and the University of Minnesota and has been a case worker for the Children's Service society in Milwaukee. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Lambda sorority. Her husband, a University of Wisconsin graduate, served as a lieutenant in the Air Corps for two and one-half years. He is in the advertising division of the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company in Manitowoc.

Choosing Uniform
For Legion Women
Is Major Project

Indianapolis, May 1 (P) — The American Legion's National Emblem Committee mopped its collective brow today after completing its most grueling task — selection of uniforms for the 250,000 women Legionnaires.

The luckless seven whose lot it was to decide what the ladies should wear proved their discretion by choosing not one but two possible uniforms for the Legion's distaff side. They left themselves another out by decreeing that the present women's uniform need not be discarded.

There was a note of relief in the committee's explanation that the selections were not necessarily final.

"Were passing this on to the National Executive committee as a recommendation," the committee said.

The 50 men of the executive group, who prudently turned the job over to the emblem committee last year, will take up the fashion issue during a three day session opening at the national headquarters here Monday.

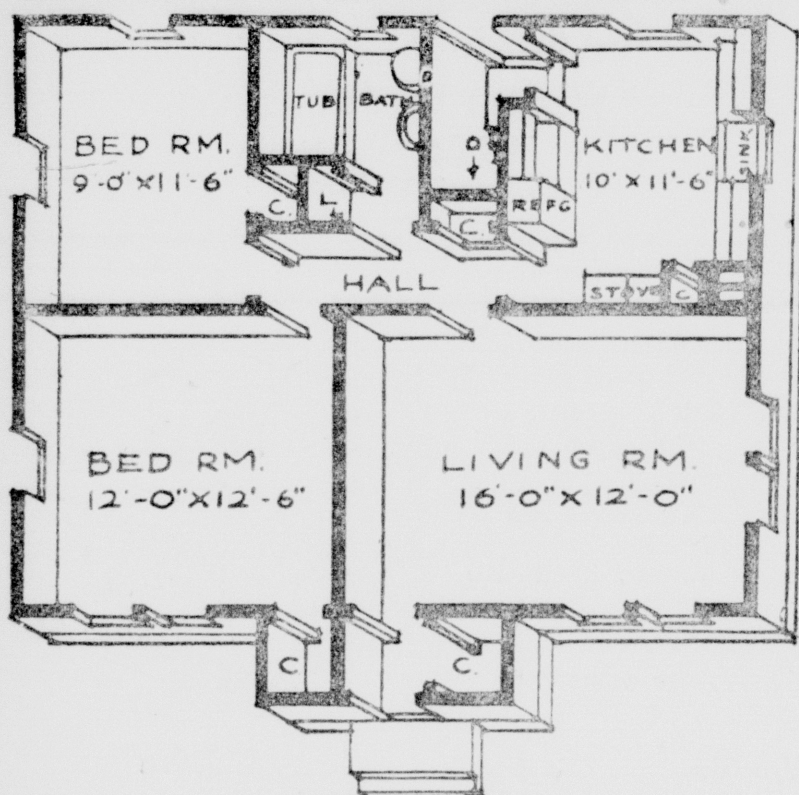

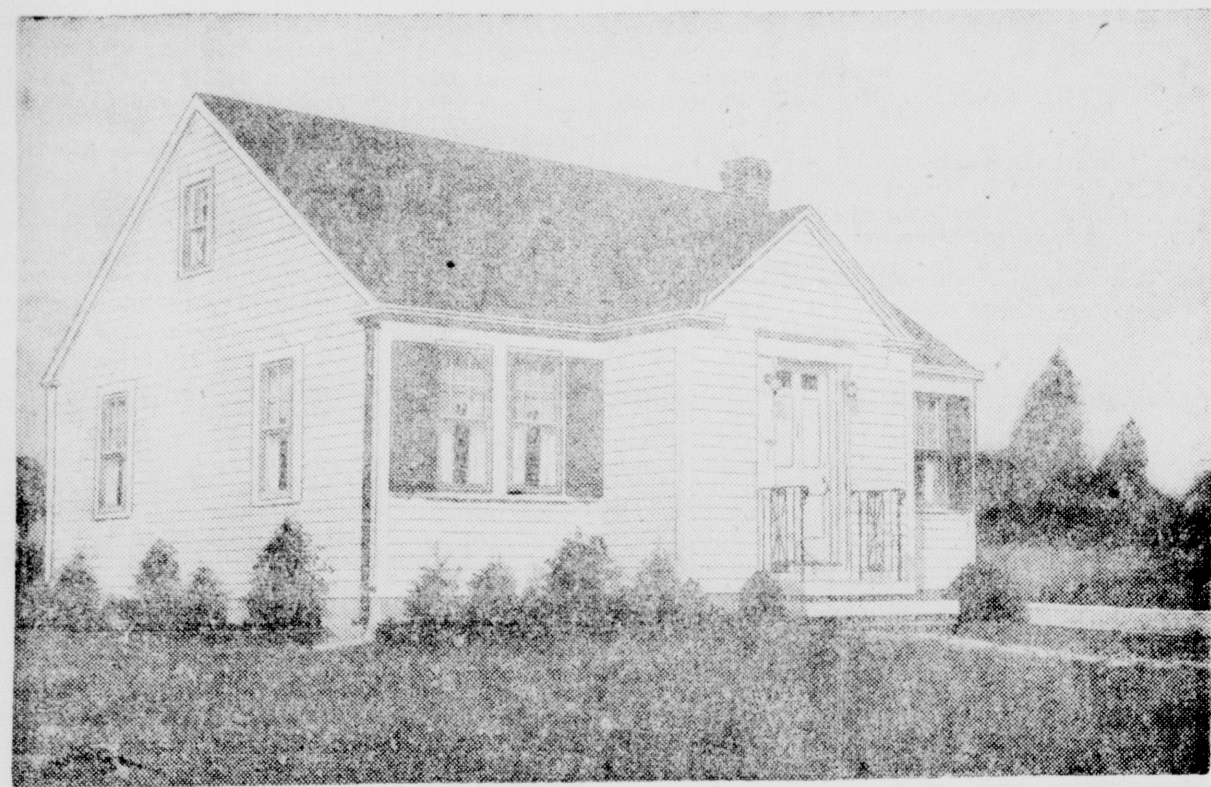

"Eisenhower" Jacket

The two choices are a shirt waist type of dress and an "Eisenhower" jacket with a six-gored skirt. Both would be of blue serge. The present uniform is virtually the same as that worn by men Legionnaires with a skirt substituted for trousers.

D. L. Haffner of Garrett, Ind., committee chairman summed up the attitude in which the committee approached its task: "The average husband never undertakes to dictate to his wife what she shall wear. We are all average husbands. We hope the fair ladies will be pleased."

Four-Room Colonial Dwelling Should Appeal to Newlyweds.—Kitchen Arrangement Is Planned for Greatest Efficiency

Despite the fact that the greatest demand in the housing field today is for small, low-cost homes, comparatively few satisfactory four-room plans are available.

For that reason "The Albion," this week's design from the Architects' Co-operative Plan Service, Inc., should prove interesting. Particularly so to newly-wedded couples who want to own homes but whose resources are limited.

"The Albion" is a simple Colonial design without any of the frills and extras which add to construction costs. Yet this small home is complete, compact, and provides all the comforts which the average family expects.

Will Fit Small Lot
Twenty-four by 30 feet in dimensions, with a cubage of 15,400 feet, "The Albion" is adaptable to a small lot. Finished with either clapboards or shingles, with roof shingled in a red and brown combination the cottage will present a creditable appearance in any neighborhood of small homes.

An entrance ell, with a concrete topped entrance platform of red pressed brick, with wrought-iron rails at either side, pleasingly breaks the front elevation. Glass toplights in the Colonial door brighten the entry. A coat closet here accommodates guests' wraps.

The visitor steps from the entry directly into the 16x12-foot living room, which is generously lighted by double windows on two exposures. Across the room from the entry doorway is another door (or an arch) which gives access to a passage connecting all the rooms of the house.

Bath Opens On Hall
The bath, with its built-in tub and overhead shower, linen closet and modern fixtures, opens off this hall. Two bedrooms, one measuring 12x12.6 feet, the other 9x11.6 are at one end of the corridor with the kitchen at the other end. There is a built-in cupboard in the hall, constructed over the casement stair well. A disappearing stair device could be installed in the hall ceiling to permit access to attic storage space.

The kitchen, 10x11.6 feet in dimension, is planned to please the most efficiency-minded housewife. Stove and refrigerator are but a

Porch Going Out of Style, Say Experts

New Solutions Found for Its Functions.—Often Mars Fine House

The evolution of the front porch in recent years has been proceeding swiftly—and backward—toward extinction.

The disappearance of this relic of the horse and buggy days is due largely, architects point out, to the fact that the front porch had more drawbacks than advantages, both in usefulness and in matters of good design.

Deep, low porches, often with many columns and heavy cornices, not only covered many interesting features of a home, such as attractive front windows and entrance, but also darkened interiors. This age of light demanded the change.

The function of the old-time porch as an out-of-doors gathering place for the family is today served by open sun decks over which awnings can be stretched temporarily, by terraces and larger use of glass in living rooms.

An important new substitute is found in living rooms with big picture windows and wide, glass doors that bring indoors out and outdoors in. Open, these doors and windows make a "porch" of the living room and the exterior is not marred.

Another modern solution is construction of the house around a patio or rear loggia with terraces and gardens over which windows look. These are connected to living room and usually arranged handy to kitchen for out-door dining.

There are, of course, architectural types which require porches. Two-story porches with delicate iron grill-work add much beauty to old homes in New Orleans and Mobile. Other types of porches are features of Greek Revival and some forms of Colonial architecture.

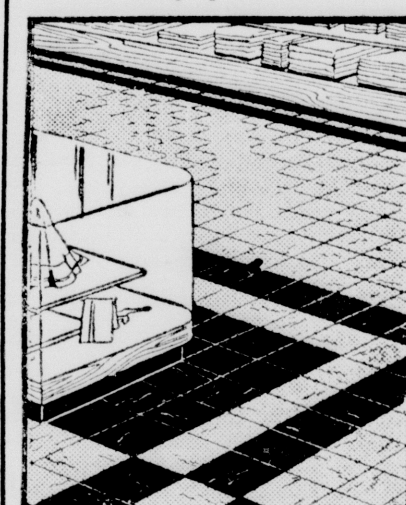

In their best forms, however, these are designed to enhance the better values of the houses and do not reduce interior lighting too much. It will be noted that where porches occur in today's best homes, they are, like attached garages, placed so as to cover a minimum of house wall and few if any windows.

SOLVES LIGHTING PROBLEM
A built-in flush lighting fixture is especially adaptable to small homes where hanging fixtures may seem to make the room top-heavy.

HOME FOR NEWLYWEDS

"The Albion" is an ideal home for a young couple just starting out. It has just enough room for comfortable living and can be built on a modest budget.

step apart. Beside the stove there is a built-in broom closet; beside the refrigerator a small working counter with wall cabinets above. Across the room is a long work counter, centered by a sink which is placed just under a window looking out at the side of the house. Another window is on the rear of the house, and here the wall is left free for placement of a breakfast suite. The service entrance is just off the kitchen. The stairs to the basement lead down therefrom.

Plans call for a full basement with cement walls and floor. The specifications also provide for steam heat, oak floor (except in bath and kitchen, which have linoleum floor coverings), copper water piping, screens and gutters and over-ceiling insulation.

Complete plans and specifications for this house, "The Albion," are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Daily Press, Escanaba, Michigan, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

OIL SOFTENS WAX

It is not a very wise policy to use an oiled mop on waxed floors, as the oil softens wax. Waxed floors should be swept with a mop or soft brush entirely free from oil.

FAMILY LIVING DETERIORATES

But Bob Ruark Doesn't Have Solution

BY ROBERT C. RUARK
New York—Having seen investigations on nearly everything under the sun in this hectic year, from Howard Hughes to the Oleo-margarine-butter battle, the weary city of Washington is going to watch a real big statistical clam-bake next week.

One hundred twenty-five agencies, representing some 40 million folks, are sending delegates to take the American family apart, examine its innards, and glue it back together again. The labor unions, the churches, the business and professional organizations, the social and governmental agencies are all rung in on the deal.

From what I can gather, the American family is presumed to be going to hell in a handbasket, and this is the first time this many people ever sat down to find out why. They are going to run the decline and fall of the fireside through the hopper, in the forlorn hope that the nation may be ultimately prevented from coming apart.

Through the steady hail of statistics, it will be decided that the housing shortage; the unsettling influence of a recent war and another on order; the atom bomb; juvenile delinquency; irregular divorce laws; the cigarette habit; increased drinking; the high cost of living; the airplane, the radio; the moving pictures; the press; a slackening influence of the church; politicians; universal military training and comic books all have conspired to aid American man in his natural bent for self-destruction.

Women Wearing Pants
A screaming shortage of Indians to shoot, trails to blaze, gold to dig, trees to chop and horizons to watch have made Homer Q. Sapiens itchy in his walkup log cabin. A growing tendency on the part of Missus Sapiens to assume pants has contributed to the tension. The verdict will be, undoubtedly, that there are too many complications to the business of bacon-bringing, and that something should be done.

It was my Grandpa's steady theory that it was awful easy to find out what was wrong with folks, but after you found it out, correcting it was another thing. Grandpa had this family business figured out a long time before they invented sociology as a remunerative trade. He used to say that man had so many dodged things to do that he never had time to do a dodged thing.

Grandpa maintained a merciless warfare against all the complications. He believed that if you kept the women in the kitchen, they would have such a short opportunity to brood about their lot that there would be no trouble in the house. He called the automobile the curse of mankind, since it enabled you to travel from here to there. Grandpa said nobody never got in trouble if he stayed home. He despised the telephone. He abhorred the movie, and claimed that the beauty parlor was an iniquitous sink that filled women's heads with power, paint and fancy notions.

Grandpa Hates Reform
But Grandpa was a cynical realist. He recognized that there was very little anybody could do about anybody else, short of shooting. He snorted at reform, especially at the Volstead act. He never reformed Grandpa even for one day. He said people would jump over whatever they couldn't walk around, and you might as well let them go to perdition in their favorite fashion.

Grandpa would have been interested in the findings of the national conference on family life, just as he would have been mildly intrigued by the Kinsey report. But he would have inquired, querulously: "Now that you know all these things, what do you aim to do about them? Build everybody a house that hasn't got one? Make immorality against the law? Refuse to have any more wars? Abolish divorce? Throttle the politicians? Write an injunction against sin?"

I go along about the same road as Grandpa. Granted that we are in a mess because of increased complication in the business of living, will somebody please rise up and tell me just how we're going to uncomplicate it?

IN AND OUT THE WINDOW

OUTDOOR HIAWATHALAND

By Vic Powers

Fishing Variety

While the trout—picture remains as spotty as beloved old fountains himself, the angler in the first week of May need not lack for variety in fishing. For the spear wielders, the suckers are reported to already be running. Perch fishing is to be had at Nahma and Garden Bay and can be expected in Little Bay de Noc at any time. The Escanaba and Ford rivers in their lower reaches might repay the seeker for wall-eyes and northern pike handsomely.

Lack of success on trout in this section is partly blamed on the abundance of natural food in the favorite streams. Fishermen should pay particular attention to streams emptying into the lake for rainbow trout runs. Warm weather should bring on at least a few fly hatches and allow the brook trout hunters to switch from worms to the feathered hooks for a few hours around midday. After looking over the streams last weekend, one expert suggests that early May anglers have such flies as stone flies, coachmen, adams, blue duns, yellow slat, grey hackles and grey hackle yellows ready for a workout if conditions on the stream warrant.

That there is no dearth of competition for the trout that are rising is indicated by the fact that conservation department sent out 10,000 additional trout stamps last week and another 6,000 on Monday to go with 200,000 sent to dealers earlier in the year. Many dealers had sold out in the pre-opening rush and were hollering for more "on the double".

Spring and The Young

"Home window shattered by 22" and "campfire sets forest blaze" are just about as reliable indicators that Spring is really here as there are. With the return of spring comes a rebirth of the spirit of Adventure in the hearts of Young America. Friday afternoon finds youngsters planning forays into the open on Saturday. Young make-believe Dan'l Boones, Kit Carsons, Buffalo Bills and Izaak Walton's will gather along the creek banks and on the hillsides with home-made bows and arrows, sling shots, BB guns, cane poles and worm cans for the Great Adventure dear to the heart of every boy.

The not long after daylight the spiraling smoke of daytime "campfires" and the crack of the 22 rifle are seen and heard throughout the countryside. This is the time that sport-loving adults should step in and take an interest in the field activities of youngsters. Not with the idea of spoiling the fun, of course, but to show young Dan'l Boone how to shoot his imaginary 'b'r without danger to himself, his companions or the public.

Boys naturally resent any adult intrusion into their world of make-believe, but playtime campfires can do untold damage when left untended and a 22 rifle is not a toy. Once you've made it plain you're no butt-inski, but one who wants to help them get the most enjoyment out of their outdoor adventures, you'll be welcomed with enthusiasm. In fact, you'd better be prepared to answer a lot of difficult questions.

Sportsmen can make no greater contribution to the enjoyment and well-being of our youth than by seeing that they are started off on the right road to a fuller enjoyment of the outdoors and its many fascinating advantages. It is the dream of almost every American boy to own a gun and go hunting like Dad or Uncle Jim. So it is our responsibility to educate him in the proper use of that gun, its safe handling and the fundamentals of shooting. Once his responsibility as a gun owner has impressed itself upon his absorbent brain, he becomes the best teacher

HONOR MEMORY—Delbert W. Swellander, son of Mrs. John McMartin of 402 South 18th street, and a member of the U. S. Army killed in Italy on March 4, 1944, has been honored by Michigan State College which he attended prior to entering military service. The college memorial committee recently announced a Memorial Loan Fund named for Swellander and another student casualty, John Cepela. Both Swellander and Cepela were members of Hendricks Co-Operative House.

The Swellander-Cepela memorial fund is established to provide loans for MSC students who are members of men's student co-operatives, with preference for members of Hendricks Co-Operative. The loans are to be repaid by the student, without interest for the first six months.

Swellander was born in Escanaba and graduated from Escanaba High school in 1941. He entered MSC in 1942, and went into service the following year. His basic training was at Fort Riley, Kans., and his paratrooper training at Fort Benning, Ga. While in Escanaba he was an officer in the Order of DeMolay.

An easy shortcut to youth education in shooting and safe gun handling is the "Be a Ranger" program sponsored by the Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers' Institute, in cooperation with the National Rifle Association. Any boy or girl can participate in this program. And if he or she can qualify by shooting three scores of at least 70 out of a possible 100 on a target, furnished free, from a distance of 50 feet, that youngster will become a N. R. A. Ranger and will receive a handsome Ranger emblem.

Full information can be obtained by writing the Sportsmen's Service Bureau, Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers' Institute, 343 Lexington ave., New York. The inquirer will receive a pamphlet fully explaining the program and information on shooting fundamentals, care of equipment and safety practices. The plan is designed to help Young America get the right start with firearms, enjoy them to the fullest and bring home the responsibility which goes with gun handling.

Fort Knox Speaker May Clear Up Many Wrong Impressions Of UMT

It is the hope of the Escanaba community defense committee that Chaplain Maury H. Hundley's talk in the William Bonifas auditorium here next Tuesday evening will clear up much misunderstanding about one of the most controversial subjects of the day—universal military training.

This thought was expressed yesterday by I. C. Peterson, chairman of the UMT sub-committee of the American Legion's community defense unit, which is sponsoring Chaplain Hundley's appearance here. He will come to Escanaba directly from Fort Knox, Ky., where he has been an instructor in the UMT experimental unit since November, 1946. The meeting will be open to the public without charge. It will begin at 8. Also scheduled is an open discussion of UMT immediately following Chaplain Hundley's address.

Erroneous Impressions

That many persons had erroneous impressions of UMT was evident at the special meeting in the Elks lodge rooms here March 22. In Chaplain Hundley's talk, it is expected they will hear the full story of the UMT experiment at Fort Knox and the lessons learned from it toward possible establishment of UMT on a full scale.

Chaplain Hundley, now a major in the chaplains' corps, received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Lynchburg college, Va., in 1938 and his Bachelor of Divinity degree from the College of the Bible in Lexington, Ky., in 1941.

Returning to the United States from overseas service in World War II, he was assigned to Fort Meade, Md., in July, 1945. Appointed an officer in the regular Army in 1943, he attained his permanent majority in 1947.

Before coming to the UMT experimental unit at Fort Knox in November, 1946, he attended the basic course of the chaplains' school at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and he also took the chaplains' indoctrination course at Harvard university.

Married and the father of two children, Major Hundley wears the bronze star medal, European theater ribbon with four battle stars for Normandy, Northern France, Rhineland and Central Europe and the Presidential unit citation.

One of the least understood facts about UMT, which Chaplain

Hundley is expected to explain, is that UMT trainees would not be members of the regular Army.

Also, after six months of training, UMT men would have 10 options. They could remain in camp for another six months to complete a year's training. They could enlist in one of the armed services for a standard tour of enlistment, in the National Guard for a regular term of enlistment, in the Enlisted Reserve corps with assignment to an organized unit or enter one of the service academies.

They also could be enlisted in the Enlisted Reserve corps, enter a college and enroll in a course that includes ROTC, enlist in the ERC and pursue a technical or special-

Walking Hill Halts; Two Homes Ruined

Pittsburgh (AP)—Penn township police said "walking hill" that is slowly tearing apart two houses has come to a temporary halt.

Repairs are being held up, however, on the chance it may resume sliding toward the Allegheny River 60 yards away. In one week the hill slid 12 feet. Families living in the homes evacuated, giving up hope of saving the structures.

ist course approved by the War Department in a trade or vocational school or in a college or university, or they could enlist in the ERC for six years, subject to six months additional active duty training during that period at the rate of not more than 30 days a year. In other words, Chairman Peterson explains, there are many ways in which a UMT trainee could fulfill his obligation. He has only to pick the option most advantageous or most convenient for him.

PLAN ACTIVITYCounty Groups To Meet
And Display Work

National Home Demonstration week will be observed May 2 to 6. The theme selected for this week is "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World."

The Home Demonstration groups of Schoolcraft County are joining the 1865 groups throughout the state in observing this week.

A Home Economics window display, showing how leather gloves are made, will be set up in a local store window.

To climax the week, a Home Economics Spring Achievement program will be held at the Community Building in Germfask on May 6. Each group will display some phase of work done during the year. A pot luck supper will be served at 6 p. m., followed by a short business meeting. Mrs. Dorothy Shipman, Manistique librarian, will be on the program with movies and a talk.

Home demonstration groups are sponsored by the county extension office. Groups are located in Grand Marais, Seney, Blaney Park, Manistique, with two groups in Thompson, Hiawatha, Manistique, and Germfask Townships. Officers of the county organization are: Mrs. Frank Arrowood, Route 1, Manistique, chairman; Mrs. Larry Applegate, Blaney, co-chairman; and Mrs. John Manning, Route 1, Manistique, secretary-treasurer.

During the past year the groups have made leather gloves, Christmas toys, and lampshades, and have had instruction on laundering methods, cotton finishes, and economy meals.

Cub Scouts and Parents Dine And Present Program

About sixty-five Cub Scouts and their parents enjoyed a pot luck supper and program held in the parlors of the First Methodist church Thursday evening.

The supper was served by the den mothers and the program, which followed, consisted by one act skits and musical numbers put on by the four packs that make up Troop 460.

It had been planned to award cubs who had made advancements with pins and badges indicating their attainment, but the badges have not been received at this time and will be given at a later date.

William Brockman, cub master, indicates that new packs will be organized as soon as adults will volunteer their services as den mothers and other necessary supervisors. At present there are more boys wishing to join than can well be taken care of.

Neighbors Help
Clear Wreckage
Of Barn Fire

The misfortune that came to Harry Curran, Doyle township resident who lost forty head of cattle in a fire last Sunday, has given rise to an incident showing neighborliness of a very high order.

As soon as the fire was completely out neighbors set to work and helped bury the carcasses of the stricken animals and get the place cleared. By early afternoon of the next day, all reminders of the depressing incident were out of the way.

While not yet decided as to what his plans are for the immediate future, Curran has indicated that he will start over again to try and rebuild a dairy business which up to last week was one of the largest in the county.

Music Groups Of High School Are Well Received

Manistique high school's third and final concert by its musical groups, held at the school auditorium Thursday evening, proved to be, according to much of the comment heard by many of those who attended, one of the best presented by the school in years.

It being just before the coming music festival at Escanaba and the band festival at Marquette, the young musicians were at their best—keyed to give their best.

Members of the Senior Girls' Chorus and the Junior Girls' Glee club, all dressed in formal gowns, made a beautiful picture as they presented their numbers.

The band, happy in its selection of such numbers as "El Capitan March," the "Merry Widow Waltz," and Berlin's "Marie," sections the audience knew and loved, scored its usual thunderous applause. Particularly impressive among these offerings was the number "Mountain Majesty," an overture by Yoder. This was the piece the band has particularly worked on as the number it will feature at the Marquette band tournament.

A piano duet by Evelyn Anderson and Nadine Westin and a trumpet solo by Don Poye, also thrilled the audience and brought thunderous calls for encores.

At the close of the concert "Ms" were given members who had completed three or more years of service with either the band or the choral groups. Miss June Christensen conferred these honors on the choral groups and Joseph Giovanni, band leader, presented them to band members. The entertainment was favored with a good attendance.

LADY AT BAT — Doris Sams, the most valuable player in the All-American Girls League last year, really takes a cut. The Knoxville miss pitched and played outfield for pennant-winning Muskegon, Mich., Lassies.

What Has Happened To Detroit's Mound Staff?

Detroit, May 1 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers were supposed to have the best staff of starting pitchers in baseball, but if they don't reverse their early season form in a hurry they'll be in line for the "flop of the year" award.

Detroit has played 11 games of its 1948 American League schedule, with only two of its "big five" starters notching a victory so far. And the way such stars as Hal Newhouse, Freddie Hutchinson, Art Houtteman and Paul (Dizzy) Trout have been kicking around is strictly "second division" symptoms.

Only three times in 11 games has a Tiger starting pitcher been around for the finish. Even Virgil Trucks, credited with two of the four games Detroit has won, had to have help his second time out after being given an 8-0 lead.

Newhouse, who figured to replace even last season with a disappointing 17-17 mark, won on opening day but has dropped three straight games since.

To Hal's credit, it must be said that his third inning, administered here yesterday by the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4, stemmed directly from misplays by his supporting cast, whose two errors handed the Sox four unearned runs. But just the same, Prince Hal yielded four hits in the eighth inning, when he was batted out after hurling near-perfect two-hit ball for seven frames.

Although the White Sox grabbed the decision with a light, six-hit attack the game further dimmed the luster of Detroit's gold plated mound corps.

Tiger pitchers now have yielded 102 hits in 99 innings, with more than a fourth of them going for extra bases.

Nearly all that is charged against the five stalwarts of the starting line, too. The rest of the Tiger pitching cast has worked a total of only nine innings and yielded just nine hits.

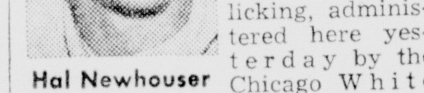

Newhouse, touched for 24 hits in 25 innings, and Trout, giving 14 hits in 16 frames, are the only ones of the lot who haven't been slammed for at least one hit in an inning.

Freddie Hutchinson, Detroit's top winner of last season with 18 wins, has served up the surprising total of 22 blows in just 14 innings of work. Trucks has given 18 hits in 18 innings and Houtteman 15 blows in 15 frames.

With the Tigers' one strong point, their pitching, gone south things look black indeed for the Briggs stadium faithful, who haven't been treated to a Tiger victory in five games at home this season.

They'll have to wait a long time for that first one, too. The Tigers showed off for Cleveland today and won't be back home until May 14.

Trout, still looking for his first win, was scheduled to make his third start of the season in Cleveland today against Bob Feller. He'll be hoping for better fielding support than the Tigers gave Newhouse.

MAT TRYOUTS TO END TODAY

Oklahoma Aggies Set Fast Pace

Ames, Iowa, May 1 (AP)—The Oklahoma A. and M. Aggies were making the strongest bid for places on the United States 16-man Olympic wrestling team as they moved into the final Olympic tryout rounds today with nine men.

The Navy, national AAU team winner earlier this month, went into the final two rounds of the three day meet with six men and Iowa State college of Cedar Falls had five.

Today's matches for the remaining 46 wrestlers out of a field of 172 will result in two men being named from each of the eight weights for the American team.

The Aggies, who brought 14 of the 23 wrestlers representing Oklahoma, had men with only one bad point against them left in three weights. They were Richard Patton, two time N.C.A.A. title holder who eliminated Ray Gunkel, of Purdue, A.A.U. champion in the heavyweight class, Hal Moore, 136.5, and William Jerinigan, 114.5.

Others remaining with good zeros are Lou Kachiroubas, 125.5, Illinois; Heavyweight Bob Malden, Michigan State, which has four wrestlers remaining, and Henry Wittenberg, 191, New York defensive.

Other entries from Michigan finished last night's competition with the following ratings:

Two bad points—Gale Mikles, Michigan State, 160.5 pound class.

Three bad points — Richard Dickenson, Michigan State, 136.5 pound class; Eugene Gibbons, Michigan State, 160.5 pound class.

Eliminated (five bad points or more)—Jim Smith, Michigan, 136.5 pounds; Bob Betzie, Michigan, 160.5 pounds; Lee Hudson-piller, Michigan State, 125.5 pounds.

New Team Leader In ABC with 3007

Detroit, May 1 (AP)—The American Bowling Congress 45th annual tournament had a new team leader today after Washington Shirts of Chicago pushed its way to the top with 3007.

Members of the windy city team which nosed out Cavolis of Cleveland by a five-pin margin will be gunning for more laurels in minor events today.

They opened their team scoring with a terrific 1056 series, then slipped to 994 and 957. The Ohio quintet has led since March 28 with 3002.

Former world match champions Hermann undertakers of St. Louis had to settle for 2807, far off the pace.

Ned Day, five-time world match champion, opened with only 179 but finished with 220 and 268 for a 667 total. He will be trying for the all-events lead today.

Look Out! That Man Rob Locke Has Again

Washington, May 1 (AP)—Bobby Locke, protecting a four stroke lead, kept a wary eye on young Skip Alexander today in the National Capital Open golf tournament's third round.

The knickered South African fired brilliant rounds of 65 and 66 the first two days for a 131 total, thirteen under par. Alexander from Mid-Pines, N. C., shot a 69 Thursday and then matched Locke's 66 yesterday for 135.

It looks as though Locke's only competition will come from Alexander or Cary Middlecoff of Memphis who was five strokes back at 136.

Spartan Nine Loses To Ohio by 5 to 3

Athens, O., May 1 (AP)—Michigan State's ninth-inning rally was thwarted by Ohio University here yesterday, and the Spartans dropped a 5-3 baseball decision.

Trailing 5-1 in the ninth, State rallied on George Pavlick's homer with one aboard. But with the bases loaded, Mark Wylie fanned the batter and retired the last man on a 13 ball.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Those who have witnessed the "Barr School Bicycle Brigade" in action say that it is a very convincing argument for improvement of Escanaba school playgrounds.

The cyclists, our informant tells us, stage a race every day to get to school on time after playing ball at the high school athletic field four blocks distant.

They would gladly play ball on the Barr school grounds, if such grounds were suitable, but since they reportedly are not, the energetic youngsters wheel way out to the high school field and play ball until they hear the five-minute warning bell.

As soon as they hear the bell, they hop on their two-wheelers and take off like a P-80. They can cover the four blocks in two minutes—give or take a few seconds.

But sometimes, according to our informant, the game becomes very exciting, indeed, and they do not hear the bell readily. When this happens, the cycle race to school is more exciting than usual, and occasionally a lad or two is late for school.

One of the "additional projects needed but not listed" in the Escanaba public school budget for 1948-49 is the resurfacing of school playgrounds at a cost of $10,000.

This is only the start of a hoped-for long-term program of improvement of city public school playgrounds.

It would be nice if those youngsters could play at Barr school. They wouldn't have so much trouble hearing the bell, and the merry cycle chase would end.

Associated Press Sports Writer

Billy Meyer, long celebrated as "the best manager in the minors," seems right at home in the big time. His Pittsburgh Pirates, only a half game out of first place, are the surprise-of-the-month in the National League.

Although Meyer has a reputation as an expert handler of young players, the 1948 Pirates aren't exactly a youthful club. They did add young Monty Bassall at second, Ed Stevens at first and Stan Roket at short, but they have to bank on a pitching staff of oldtimers.

Take Rip Sewell, for example. He retired last winter and was placed on the inactive list as a full time coach. Now he is one of three pitchers in the league with a perfect 2-0 record. Elmer Riddle, a Cincinnati castoff, now with Pittsburgh is another.

Sewell failed to go the route yesterday in the Pirates' 10-4 romp over Chicago. Kirby Higbe had to mop up despite an eight-run spurt in the second inning.

Desperate Chicago Apartment Hunters Offer Big Bonuses

Chicago, May 1 (P)—Anyone having an apartment for rent in Chicago can trade it for free dentistry for life.

Or, if he prefers, he can choose from among a refrigerator, television set, complete bathroom fixtures, an automatic ironer, washing machine, free voice and piano lessons for a year, a milk coat for the cost of the skins, federal tax advice, contact lenses, an outboard motor, $500 worth of decorating or any make new car at ceiling price.

The newspapers' want ad columns are crammed with inducements offered by desperate home-seekers.

But the moving van, trademark of Chicago's traditional May 1 moving day, had little business today.

Before the war, the May day shift of Chicago families generally included about 20 per cent of all apartment building occupants.

But this year, one of the city's largest apartment management companies estimated that 97 per cent of its several thousand tenants have signed and plan to remain immovable, at least until next January 1.

Taverns Get Break As Dearborn Stays On Standard Time

Detroit, May 1 (P)—Suburban Dearborn today was restrained from enforcing use of daylight saving time.

In a ruling yesterday Circuit Judge Theodore J. Richter said municipalities were not empowered to pass ordinances in conflict with state laws, and the Michigan legislature had officially set clocks on Eastern Standard Time.

The ruling permits Dearborn liquor establishments to remain open an hour later than Detroit's taverns. Detroit is on daylight saving or "fast" time.

Judge Richter's ruling was on a petition for a permanent injunction sought by night club owner Mike Chiate.

Detroit's assistant corporation counsel said a similar decision would be impossible in Detroit, a home rule city. He explained that the Motor City was allowed to legislate for the "peace, health and safety" of its citizens.

FIRST FORCES CROSS BORDER OF HOLY LAND

King Abdullah said, "will tighten the ring around the Jewish enemy." AP correspondent Daniel De Luce reported from Amman.

Abdullah's statement did not specify a D-Day for Arab invasion nor did it identify any one Arab figure as commander-in-chief for the operations. It repeated a previous offer to peace to the Jews if they would accept an Arab majority state and abandon the idea of a Jewish Nation.

Irgun Zvai Leumi was understood to be transferring the wrecked borderzone Manshih area of Jaffa, seized from the Arabs, to squads of Hagannah fighters.

It was assumed Hagannah would hand the area over to the British in accordance with a British truce ultimatum. The British had given Irgun, the Jewish underground force, until noon today to withdraw from positions they had seized in the port of Jaffa.

Hagannah said the Arab forces were attacking the settlements of Dafne, Ramot Naftali and Dan in the first outright invasion of Palestine by any of the neighboring Arab states.

The report said the thrust was made into the northern thumb of Palestine from two directions, one force crossing the Lebanese frontier and the other the Syrian frontier a few miles away.

Production Resumed At General Motors After Week Layoff

Detroit, May 1 (P)—General Motors Corp. today notified 125,000 workers to report Monday after a week's layoff due to steel shortages.

At the same time, an additional 26,000 are scheduled for layoffs beginning Monday and continuing through May 17.

The recent coal strike was blamed by the corporation for its lack of steel.

Employees of Buick, Pontiac and Oldsmobile divisions will come back Monday, as well as workers in Fisher Body fabricating plant and Chevrolet manufacturing plants.

On Monday, 11,000 employees in nine Fisher Body assembly plants will be laid off for a week, plus 6,000 auto assembly line workers in 11 Chevrolet assembly plants. Chevrolet truck production will not be affected.

Six Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac assembly plants will halt operations May 7-17, idling another 9,000 workers.

CONFERENCE IN ESCANABA
Lansing, May 1 (P)—The Department of Public Instruction announced today a conference of administrators and teachers of institutional on-the-farm training programs will be held in Escanaba May 12.

It is estimated that there are between two and three million farmers in the United States who do not own automobiles.

Poor Halas! He Has Only Layne, Luckman, Lujack

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, May 1 (P)—Spherical Steve Owen and streamlined Tim Mara were fumbling about the office television receiver looking for a baseball game that wasn't there. "I'd like to see a few innings," Steve groused. I have to go up to Columbia for my one-man spring practice. . . . One-man spring practice, isn't that something new? . . . "It sure is," Owen assented.

"It probably is the first time a pro football team ever had spring drills."

Actually I have two men. Paul Governali and Joe Sulaitis, but Governali is doing most of the work. He's lighter now than when the season ended. We're going to use a lot of winged-T stuff this year now that we have the men for it.

Steve added: "I think Governali is the one who can make it go. . . . We're going to have a good passing team with Paul and Tony Minisi and Charley Conerly—I'm pretty sure he'll sign with us when his college baseball season ends—and fellows like Joe Scott and Bill Swiacki to receive. . . . The line won't be big; a lot of 210-215 pounders, but they can move."

THE "L" OF IT

"You might say that we have signed 15 of our first 20 draft choices," interjected Mara, "and I don't think we offered them so much more money than the All American conference. . . . Of course, Admiral Ingram says they don't need to sign players this year because they have all the good ones. . . . But what are they going to do in Chicago? . . . They have Ed McKeever there and they're already feeling sorry for George Halas and his 'old men.' All he has is Luckman, Lujack and Layne. I've learned you should never feel sorry for Halas—especially not with those three fellows."

SKIP IT, BUB

There was just time for one more question as Owen put on his coat murmuring something about "practice in the boiler room on a cold day." . . . How about that statement that Minisi can be another Ward Cuff; "I hope so," Steve grinned. "He's only 21 and he'll be better than he was in college; he's a good defensive player—remember that tackle he made against Notre Dame when he was playing for Navy? . . . He can run, too; and that running pass of his is hard to stop. . . . But another Cuff, I'm not sure they didn't break that mould."

HANDLE WITH CARE

When the Red Sox visited Philadelphia the other day, a writer phoned Joe McCarthy to ask his darling pitcher. . . . Joe gave the name, but five minutes later he called the writer back at his office. . . . "Just checking," McCarthy explained. "This is my first trip in this year and I didn't want somebody to be pulling a fast one on you or me."

NO SPRING LEFT

Dud De Groot, West Virginia's new football coach, and Roy (Legs) Hawley, the university's energetic athletic director, visited New York yesterday to report on spring football practice to the Touchdown Club. . . . De Groot's report was "My legs are in the best condition in years just from trying to keep up with this Legs."

Mississippi has approximately 15,860,000 acres in forest areas.

INDIANS FACE AA

By the Associated Press

Four American Association afternoon games were scheduled Saturday with Indianapolis opening a three game stand at Milwaukee in the featured week end series. Both of yesterday's scheduled games—Louisville at St. Paul and Columbus at Minneapolis—were postponed because of bad weather. The Indians open at Milwaukee with a two game lead in the flag race with a 12-3 record. Minneapolis is second with 10-5 while St. Paul holds third with 9-6. Milwaukee is fourth with 9-7.

Cast and Director Add Finishing Cues To Play, 'Dear Ruth'

Would you notice if a maid in the EHS senior class play, "Dear Ruth," looked only halfway down a pail instead of strictly at the bottom, to watch it drip? These Mankiewicz and Miss McLain, to introduce the members of their respective teams and the cheerleaders. The guest speaker was Mr. William Karas of Escanaba who is the chairman of the Delta County Youth Guidance Commission. Mr. Karas gave an interesting talk on causes of juvenile delinquency and stressed the need for development of father-son and father-daughter comradeship.

Private practices have been held. One student, in the beginning, had difficulty with romantic scenes because he would tense up. Individual mannerisms had to be worked out, stage laughs had to be authenticated and the pace of the play detailed.

A few tickets for the play still are available. Any member of the senior class can provide them. Seats may be reserved at the senior high school, and should be reserved as soon as possible.

Russians Trum Up Kidnapping Charge Against Americans

Berlin, May 1 (P)—The Russians charge American agents have kidnaped their Lt. Col. J. G. Tessajew, but the Americans say they don't know what's become of him.

Tessajew, inspector of the Soviet transport group attached to the United States army in Bremen, has been missing since a week ago yesterday, when he was invited to the home of an American port director, Stanley A. Clem.

The Russian-sponsored German news agency ADN said yesterday Tessajew was the victim of a "prepared kidnapping" carried out at Clem's home.

Clem himself, reached by telephone in Bremen, told a reporter Tessajew and two other Russian officers had shown up there but had vanished while he and his wife were out for a while.

Game Warden Killer Two Times A Lifer, Dies At Marquette

Marquette, Mich., May 1 (P)—Roy Nunn, 67, twice a life prisoner and son of a lifer, died early today in the Marquette branch prison.

He was found in his cell about 7 a. m. He had suffered from a heart ailment for about two years. Nunn was convicted in 1926 of murdering two deputy game wardens who stopped him while he was hunting deer near here.

In 1897, Nunn was sentenced to life imprisonment with his father on a murder charge.

The younger Nunn's sentence was commuted to 25 years in 1913 by the late Gov. Woodbridge N. Ferris. He was discharged in 1914. A year later he was sentenced to serve one to 15 years for burglary but was paroled. His parole period ended in 1920.

On Sept. 29, 1926, Arvid Erickson and Emil Skoglund, game wardens, disappeared. Hundreds of persons searched the Marquette area in vain for two weeks looking for them.

A tip from a farmer led to the arrest of Nunn who later confessed that he killed the two and dropped their sack-enclosed bodies into Lake Superior from a dock in Marquette.

Algonac, Mich., May 1 (P)—For the first time in the memory of parishoners at St. Andrews Episcopal church here, a few of their famous tenant wrens arrived ahead of May Day.

BURGLARS GET $12,000

Detroit, (P)—Burglars netted a total of $12,000 in three home robberies and three holdups of business places here Saturday.

S. deputy military governor, said U. S. authorities were investigating but had found out nothing. He added that so far as he knew, "the man may have just gone off somewhere."

The agency reported the Russians had demanded that the Colonel be freed at once and the guilty be punished in "this unexampled and criminal adventure."

RIVAL GROUPS HOLD PARADES FOR MAY DAY

of motemen picked May Day for a subway strike. They want more pay and better working conditions. The Communist-led French general confederation of labor, which controls most other subway employees, went along and invited its members employed by the subway system to leave work and join May Day parades.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi of Italy, whose Christian Democrats gave a trouncing to the Communist front in the recent election, called for national solidarity.

The broadcast, a May Day eve appeal to Italian workers as the nation faced threats of strikes. Italian Communist leaders, who say they have not given up the fight, prepared to speak in public squares over the nation.

London joined the "dual observance" ranks as the labor party snubbed the rival parade and meeting of the London Trades Council, whose principal speaker is the council's Communist secretary, James Jacobs. London Communists told party members to attend the council celebration.

The labor party furnished a May Day speaker for every district held by a labor member of parliament and featured Herbert Morrison, house of commons leader, in London.

Split In Mexico

The east-west division was sharply noticeable in Berlin. In the big Lustgarten the Communist-controlled Berlin federation of trade unions called a morning rally. The independent opposition scheduled its meeting in Republic Square, in the shadow of the burned-out Reichstag.

In Paris, the traditional Communist parade into the Place de la Concorde was to be confined to the east end of the city by order of the interior ministry.

The French people's party of Gen. Charles de Gaulle called its first May Day rally in a suburban park.

The split between the leftists and other groups was apparent in the western hemisphere, too. In Mexico City two rival parades

RAGGED REBELS QUIT IN GREECE

Guerrillas Surrender; Stronghold Smashed

BY ROBERT HEWETT

Lamia, Greece, May 1 (P)—Greek army troops today commanded the Mount Parnassos region of the central Greece after smashing a two-year-long guerrilla stronghold.

The Communist led guerrillas, ragged and starving, were reported surrendering in droves as the government's biggest offensive of the civil war paid off.

For 16 days Greek army troops have knifed at the insurgents in the rocky terrain around Mount Parnassos, legendary home of Apollo.

American army officers advising the Greek army were pleased with the campaign's success. They said they believed guerrilla resistance in the region was destroyed.

About 30,000 Greek soldiers have been closing in on a 2,000 square mile area surrounding Mount Parnassos. Thus far 224 guerrillas have been reported killed and 709 captured.

(Athens press reports last night said that in another action south-west of Corinth a guerrilla band of 700 was reported to have lost two-thirds of its strength in a 24-hour period.

were scheduled. They were to converge on the great square before the national palace to hear President Miguel Aleman.

Farther south, the Communists took a rap from the 21 American republics winding up the Pan American conference in Bogota, Columbia. There delegates signed a resolution last night condemning international Communism.

The Greek government's battle against Communist-led guerrillas seemed to be paying off as ragged, starving insurgents surrendered by the hundreds around Mount Parnassos.

Cancer kills more mothers of school age children than any other disease

• Once, not too long ago—Mom heard her prayers at night, dressed her in the morning and got her off to school. . . . But Mom went away and didn't come back.

No home is safe from cancer. Last year cancer killed more mothers of growing families than any other disease. Tragic—but even more tragic is the fact that many of these deaths need never have happened.

Many of the mothers who now die could be cured—IF they learned to recognize cancer's symptoms and seek medical advice immediately —IF sufficient money can be found for the cancer research needed to discover the causes of the disease, to perfect its treatment.

The American Cancer Society, through its program of public education and medical research, is dedicated to the conquest of cancer. Will you help?
